Keck School of Medicine of USC

Presents

USC Department of Dermatology Dermatologic Surgery Journal Club - 2/3/2022

Activity Information:

Dates & Times: Thursday, February 3, 2022 at 5:00 PM – Thursday, February 3, 2022 at 6:00 PM

AMA Category 1 Credits: 1.00

Speaker(s):

Richard Bennett, MD, Mohs and Dermatologic Surgery Adjunct Clinical Professor of Dermatology Bennett Surgery Center

Jenny C Hu, MD Associate Professor of Dermatology (Clinician Educator) KSOM-Keck School of Medicine

Objectives:

1 Appraise medical and surgical treatment options for a given condition and formulate optimal treatment plans based on current literature

2 Compare available diagnostic modalities for a given clinical presentation and formulate optimal management plans based on current literature

3 Evaluate a unique clinical scenario as outlined in case presentations and discuss evidence-based evaluation and management

Educational Format: Live Activity

 Target Specialties:
 All Specialties, Dermatology

Target Professions: Dermatologist

Accreditation Statement(s):

The Keck School of Medicine of the University of Southern California is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Disclosure:

As an organization accredited by the ACCME The Keck School of Medicine of the University of Southern California requires everyone who is in a position to control the content of an education activity to disclose prior to the activity all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest. All disclosed relevant financial relationships will have been resolved prior to the commencement of the activity.

Name of individual	Individual's role in activity	Name of commercial interest/Nature of relationship
Richard Bennett, MD, Mohs and Dermatologic Surgery	Faculty	Nothing to disclose - 07/21/2021
Jenny C Hu, MD	Faculty	Nothing to disclose - 07/16/2021

During the course of this activity there may be report and/or discussion of unlabeled or unapproved uses of pharmaceuticals and/or medical devices. All such report and/or discussion are attested to be based on evidence that is generally accepted within the profession of medicine and conforms to the generally accepted standards of experimental design, data collection and analysis.

Support:

None

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), please call the CME office at (323)442-2555 should you require special assistance or need additional information regarding this activity.